

Faculty Notes

The following will summarize the scholarly productivity of Georgia Law's faculty in the 2003 calendar year. In total, the school's faculty published 62 articles, 17 books and online publications, 9 supplements and 2 chapters.

Peter A. Appel

"The Diligent Prosecution Bar to Citizen Suits: The Search for Adequate Representation" in 10 Widener Law Review 91.

Milner S. Ball (J.D.'71)

"Beyond Tolerance" in 24 Cardozo Law Review 1621; and a book review of C. Weisbrod's Emblems of Pluralism: Cultural Differences and the State, Law and History Review.

J. Randy Beck

"The Heart of Federalism: Pretext Review of Means-End Relationships" in 36 University of California-Davis Law Review 407; and "Race and the Georgia Courts: Implications of the Georgia Public Trust and Confidence Survey for Batson v. Kentucky and Its Progeny" with G. Dougherty and M. Bradbury in 37 Georgia Law Review 1021.

Daniel M. Bodansky

"Climate Commitments: Assessing the Options" in Beyond Kyoto: Advancing the International Effort Against Climate Change;

Legal Regulation of the Effects of Military Activity on the Environment, a research report for the German Federal Environmental Agency; and a chapter titled "Transatlantic Environmental Relations" in Europe, America and Bush: Transatlantic Relations After 2000, edited by J. Peterson and M. Pollack.

Ronald L. Carlson

"Prior Bad Act Impeachment" with M. Carlson in 5 The Georgia Prosecutor;

"Impeaching the State's Own Witness" with M. Carlson in 5 The Georgia Prosecutor; "Opening Statement: Making it Stick" with M. Carlson in 18 Georgia Bar Journal; and Trial Handbook for Georgia Lawyers, 3rd edition.

Dan T. Coenen

Fifteen essays on prominent U.S. Supreme Court decisions that originated in the state of Georgia for the New Georgia Encyclopedia, an online resource; and Constitutional Law: The Commerce Clause.

Dorinda G. Dallmeyer (J.D.'84)

Edited and wrote the preface and concluding chapter, "Launching Environmental Ethics into the Mainstream," for Values at Sea: Ethics for the Marine Environment.

Anne P. Dupre (J.D.'88)

Children and the Law: Cases and Materials with M. Gardner.

Paul J. Heald

"Mowing the Playing Field: Addressing Information Distortion and Asymmetry in the TRIPS Game" in 88 Minnesota Law Review 249-314; "Misreading a Canonical Work: An Analysis of Mansfield's 1994 Study" in 10 Journal of Intellectual Property Law 309-318 and reprinted as "A Skeptical Look at Mansfield's Famous 1994 Survey" in 15 Information Economics and Policy; "Random Walks, Non-Cooperative Games, and the Complex Mathematics of Patent Valuation" with R. Denton in 55 Rutgers Law Review; "The Rhetoric of Biopiracy," in 11 Cardozo International and Comparative Law Journal 519-546; and a novel, No Regrets.

Walter Hellerstein

"Jurisdiction to Tax Income and Consumption in the New Economy: A Theoretical and Comparative Perspective" in 38

Georgia Law Review 1; "State Personal

Income Tax Issues Raised by Change of Residence" in State Tax Notes; "State Taxation of Accumulated Trust Income: Restraints Imposed by Due Process, Commerce Clauses" in 10 Multistate Tax Report 815; "State Tax Treatment of Foreign Corporate Partners and LLC Members After Check the Box" with M. McLoughlin in 8 State and Local Tax Lawyer 1; "Reconsidering the Constitutionality of the 'Convenience of the Employer' Doctrine" in State Tax Notes; and 2003-1 and 2003-2 cumulative supplements to State Taxation (two-volume treatise).

Edward J. Larson

"The Scopes Trial in History and Legend" in When Science and Christianity Meet; "Tailored Genes" in Legal Affairs; "Don't Know Much Biology" in Books and Culture; "Relations of Science and Religion" in the Dictionary of American History; "Scopes Trial" in the Oxford Companion to American History; Trial and Error: The American Controversy Over Creation and Evolution, revised ed. of 1985 book with added chapters; and a book review of Henry Fairfield Osborn in the American Historical Review.

Charles R.T. O'Kelley

Corporations and Other Business Associations, 4th ed., with R. Thompson; and Corporations and Other Business Associations: Selected Statutes, Rules and Forms, 11th ed., with R. Thompson.

E. Ann Puckett

Updated the online publications: Bibliography of Law Review Articles on Disability Law; Searchable Bibliography of Law Review Articles on Disability Law; and Staffing for Law School Computing Services.

Margaret V. Sachs

Securities Litigation and Enforcement: Cases and Materials with D. Nagy and R. Painter; and Teacher's Manual to Accompany Securities Litigation and Enforcement: Cases and Materials with D. Nagy and R. Painter.

Alexander W. Scherr

"Daubert & Danger: The 'Fit' of Expert

Predictions in Civil Commitments” in 55 Hastings Law Journal 1; “Popular Culture as a Lens on Legal Professionalism” with H. Farber in 55 South Carolina Law Review 351; and 2003 update of Georgia Law of Evidence.

R. Perry Sentell Jr. (LL.B. '58)

“Lightening the Load: In the Georgia Supreme Court” in 37 Georgia Law Review 697; “Local Government Law” in 55 Mercer Law Review 353; and “Local Government Litigation: Some Pivotal Principles” in 55 Mercer Law Review 1.

David E. Shipley

“Resigning as Dean: Stepping Down or Stepping Up?” in 34 University of Toledo Law Review 189; “I Am Glad I Got to Know Him,” in 11 Journal of Intellectual Property Law xvii (a tribute to the late L. Ray Patterson); and a book chapter titled “Rulemaking” in South Carolina Administrative Practice and Procedure with R. Lowell.

James C. Smith

A bimonthly column on recent property cases in Probate & Property; two cumulative supplements (summer 2003 and winter 2003) to Friedman on Contracts and Conveyances of Real Property; 2003 cumulative supplement to Neighboring Property Owners; and 2003 supplement to Federal Taxation of Real Estate.

Erwin C. Surrency (J.D. '48)

“The Georgia Code of 1863 and Its Place in the Codification Movement” in 11 Journal of Southern Legal History 81; and “Sketches of the Establishment of the Federal Courts by States and Their Judges” in 212 Federal Rules Decisions 611.

Camilla E. Watson

“Legislating Morality: The Duty to the Tax System Revisited” in 51 Kansas Law Review 1197 and also published in the symposium issue of the Kansas Law Review titled Tax Compliance: Should Congress Reform the 1998 IRS Reform Act?

Michael L. Wells

“Proximate Cause and the American Law Institute: The False Choice Between the ‘Direct Consequences’ Test and the ‘Risk Standard’” in 37 University of Richmond Law Review 389.

Rebecca H. White

“Arbitration and the Administrative State” in 38 Wake Forest Law Review 1283; “Affirmative Action in the Workplace: The Significance of Grutter?” in 92 Kentucky Law Journal 263; Cases and Materials on Employment Discrimination, 6th ed., with M. Zimmer and C. Sullivan; and 2004 Supplement to Employment Discrimination Law and Practice, 3rd ed.

Donald E. Wilkes Jr.

“Dead Docketing Criminal Cases in Georgia” with K. Wilkes in The Georgia Defender; “The Long Arm of the Law” in Columns; Federal Postconviction

Remedies and Relief Handbook for Practitioners; and 2003 supplement (two volumes) to State Postconviction Remedies and Relief.

Watson’s Legal Texts Find Foreign Audience

Alan Watson, distinguished research professor and Ernest P. Rogers chair of law, proves the language of law is universal.

A prolific author, Watson has had several of his books published in foreign languages, with three more titles currently undergoing translation. Legal Transplants is available in Italian, Chinese and Serbian. The Making of the Civil Law has been reprinted in Chinese. Two titles, Jesus and the Law and The Trial of Jesus, are currently being translated into Serbian, and Roman Law and Comparative Law will soon be released in Japanese.

“It is extremely unusual for legal texts to be translated into a foreign language,” Watson said. “However, I am honored that my works can be utilized by so many.”

Alan Watson poses with just a few of his books that have been translated into foreign languages.

Watson, one of the world’s foremost authorities on Roman law, comparative law, legal history, and law and religion, has mastered more than a dozen languages and has authored nearly 150 books and articles. A highly-regarded lecturer, he regularly visits leading universities in the United States and such countries as Italy, Holland, Germany, France, Poland, South Africa and Israel.

In honor of his worldwide scholarship, the University of Belgrade presented him with an honorary Doctor of the University in February. Recipients of this degree require a two-thirds positive vote by the faculty of the institution. Notably, Watson received a unanimous vote of approval.

In addition to this latest academic honor, he has also been presented three honorary degrees from the universities of Pretoria and Glasgow. Watson holds seven traditional degrees from the universities of Oxford, Glasgow and Edinburgh. ■

Sub-zero Scholarship

1.

For Dean Rusk Center Associate Director Dorinda G. Dallmeyer (J.D.'84) visiting Antarctica is more than just a once-in-a-lifetime trip. She and her husband David, a UGA geology professor, have visited this exotic continent 17 times and have traveled to the world's southernmost landmass each of the last seven years during Winter Break. They serve as naturalists and lecturers on expedition cruises through icy waters to Antarctica. In addition to describing the history of exploration on this continent, Dorinda often discusses who owns Antarctica, which allows her to share portions of her international legal expertise.

When asked about her most memorable moment during her visits to the frozen landmass, Dorinda replied that it was hard to pick out just one. "However, it certainly was a thrill late one evening to float on a glassy calm sea in golden light among a group of 20 Orcas (killer whales) and just listen to them sigh as they slowly made their way across the strait."

Late last year, Edward J. Larson, the holder of the Talmadge chair of law and the Russell professorship of American history, was fortunate enough to spend two months on the frozen continent. Funded by a federal grant, Larson was studying the history of science in the Antarctic as well as the current conduct of science in this icy world. His research included interviewing scientists, visiting penguin rookeries, seeing historic camps and retracing the routes followed by scientific explorers such as Ernest Shackelton and Robert F. Scott. Portions of Larson's work will be published in a forthcoming articles.

2.

4.

3.

5.

Larson said while in Antarctica he met some of the most brilliant people he has ever encountered. "It is a place where the spirit of adventure in science lives on into the 21st century," he said.

-Portions of this story were taken from an article published in the Athens Banner-Herald

1. A Gentoo penguin.
2. Talmadge Chair Ed Larson stands at the geographic South Pole, once traveled to by explorers Roald Amundsen and Robert F. Scott.
3. An Orca just off of the coast of Antarctica.
4. Rusk Center Associate Director Dorinda Dallmeyer (J.D.'84) is no stranger to Antarctica. She and her geologist husband, David, have made the trip 17 times.
5. A mother seal and her pup.
6. Icebergs off of the coast of the Earth's southernmost continent.

6.