WORKS IN PROGRESS

Criticizing Judges: A Lawyer’s Professional Responsibility as a Public Citizen

This article examines the ethical propriety of lawyers criticizing judges, both through written court filings and public commentary. It argues that such criticism is an important part of a lawyer’s professional responsibility as a public citizen; however, the manner and context are critical, and can be appropriately regulated consistent with the First Amendment.

ACADEMIC SYMPOSIA

Who Are They to Judge? – Ethical and Professionalism Issues Facing the Bench,

University of Georgia School of Law (spring 2014) (organized and presided over symposium that featured addresses by Judge David Sentelle of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit and former Iowa Supreme Court Chief Justice Marsha Ternus, as well as panels comprised of various well-regarded academics and practitioners)
