University of Georgia School of Law

ACADEMIC ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM

'OneL' Series Fall 2021

*Sessions will be in Room A at 11:00 a.m. on the Fridays listed below.

Aug. 20 The Basics: Things Every New Law Student Needs to Know

As you are getting used to reading cases and navigating your classes, this session will provide tips specific to each of your first-year subjects and alert you to unfamiliar terminology, legal doctrines, and principles that cut across all of your courses.

Aug. 27 Beyond the Case Brief: What Are You Actually Supposed to be Getting from All of This?

What is the end game here? What will you actually be tested on? The answers to those questions are unique to law school and should dictate how you approach the cases you are reading, how you take notes in class, and how you study outside of class. In this session, we will answer those questions and look at some typical law school exam questions to help you better focus on what matters.

Sept. 10 Starting to Construct the Puzzle – Synthesizing for Classes

You understand the individual cases, but understanding how they fit together is what will matter for exams. This session will focus on how you can begin to pull clusters of cases together and start to lay the groundwork for outlining.

Sept. 24 Outlining: Your Biggest Assignment (That is Never Assigned)

Creating your own outline of a course is critical to making sure you will ultimately be prepared for the exam. Now is the time to begin that process, but make no mistake about it: there are wrong ways to outline. This session will show you how to effectively begin pulling together the case briefs, class notes, hypotheticals, rules, and other bits of materials you are accumulating into manageable and organized study aids that will help you at exam time.

Oct. 22 Exam-Writing Series – Session 1: Spotting & Framing the Issues

This session will focus on unearthing and framing issues and sub-issues in essay exam questions, and on organizing those issues for maximum points.

Oct. 29 Exam-Writing Series – Session 2: Dealing with the Rules

How much "rule" is enough in an exam answer? How much is too much? What about exceptions to rules? This session will focus on these questions and others related to dealing with rules in exam answers.

Nov. 5 Exam-Writing Series – Session 3: Explaining the Analysis

Application of the relevant rules to the facts you are given on an exam is the heart of a law school essay exam answer. This workshop will focus on how to explain your analysis of the facts in a way that earns maximum points.

Nov. 19 Exam-Writing Series – Session 4: "Pencils Up"

With exams just around the corner, this session focuses on last minute practical advice for reading week as well as exam day -- everything from skinny and attack outlines, to anticipating and preparing for exam questions, to managing your time on an exam.

STATE OF SANFORD v. ROSEMARY M. PHILLIPS

456 Sanford App. 955 Sanford Court of Appeals, Third Division

> Argued November 15, 2019 Decided January 5, 2020

Rossen, J.

Appellant, Rosemary Phillips, set fire to an unoccupied building which had been deserted for several years. The building was located in an industrial area on the outskirts of town and had been condemned as a firetrap. Evidence showed that Phillips had been a long-time employee of the company which was formerly housed in the building and frequently visited the site in the months before the incident in question. On the night of the fire, Phillips, acting alone, poured several gallons of gasoline throughout the first floor of the building and then ignited it, causing the building to burn to the ground in thirty minutes. The trial court found her guilty of arson, a felony in this state. She does not contest that conviction here.

Phillips does, however, contest her conviction for the death of a firefighter stemming from this incident. On the way to put out the fire set by Appellant, firefighter Robert Hernandez was killed when he fell off the back of the fire truck and was run over by a car. Hernandez, who was only weeks away from retirement, was pronounced dead at the scene. Evidence showed that the car was speeding and following the truck too closely, and further that there was no way the driver could have avoided the firefighter. The driver of the car was charged and later convicted of speeding and following too closely.

Based on the evidence presented below, Phillips was found guilty of murder under the felony murder rule and appeals that conviction. The felony murder rule provides that if someone is killed during a felony committed by a defendant, the defendant is guilty of murdering that person. The underlying purpose of the felony murder rule is to deter people from committing felonies, particularly those which are inherently dangerous to human life. There is no doubt that the firefighter here was killed during the commission of a felony; nor is there any doubt that fires and arson are inherently dangerous to people in buildings, bystanders, and firefighters who combat the blaze.

However, while Appellant should have known that a fire truck would be summoned to put out the fire, she could not have foreseen someone would be following the fire truck too closely. Public policy dictates that there must be a limit to liability. Because the felony murder rule borders on strict liability in criminal law, any expansion must be carefully scrutinized. As with any principle of strict liability, there must be a causal connection. Conviction reversed.

Students have a responsibility to know and follow the conduct regulations. Violations will result in action by the Office of Student Conduct in addition to any action taken by the Law School.

STUDENT CONDUCT RECORDS

Student conduct records may be requested or considered in many states' character and fitness process for Bar Admission. DUTIES OF DISCLOSURE

You must execute this agreement by completing the required Duties of Disclosure quiz in the "School of Law Orientation Fall 2021" eLC course no later than Monday, August 16, 2021 OR arrange to meet with your respective Admissions representative by Friday, August 20, 2021.

JD STUDENTS – Contact Shannon Hinson, Associate Director of Admissions, at shinson@uga.edu with questions or to schedule a meeting.

LLM STUDENTS – Contact Dr. Laura Tate Kagel, Director of International Professional Education at lkagel@uga.edu with questions or to schedule a meeting.

Your enrollment in the School of Law signals your entry into the legal profession. The legal profession requires its members to exhibit, at all times, the highest level of professionalism, character, honesty, and integrity. A failure to live up to these ideals can adversely affect your ability to be admitted to the Bar.

I. Duty to Disclose in Law School Application

When you submitted your application for admission to the University of Georgia School of Law, you responded to the following questions:

1. Have you ever been dropped, suspended, warned, placed on scholastic or disciplinary probation, expelled or requested to resign from any college, university, or law school, otherwise subjected to discipline by any such institution, or requested or advised by any such institution to discontinue your studies therein?

Have you ever been formally charged with cheating, lying, or otherwise taking unfair advantage of fellow students at any college, university, or law school you attended or are presently attending?

Regardless of whether the record has been expunged, cancelled or annulled, or whether no record was made, have you ever been subject to proceedings before a school honor court or council (or any similar body)?

- 2. Excluding only parking violations, have you ever been detained, arrested, formally accused, cited, or prosecuted for the violation of any law? You must disclose each instance, even if the charges were dismissed; you were acquitted; you pled nolo contendere; adjudication was withheld; your conviction was reversed, set aside, or vacated; or the record was sealed or expunged.
- 3. Have you ever been discharged from the armed forces other than honorably or are charges pending which could result in such an outcome?

4. Have you ever been subject to disciplinary sanctions while holding a professional license or are charges pending, which could result in such an outcome?

When you submitted your application, you certified that the information provided in your application was true and complete. In addition, you indicated that you understood and agreed that providing false information or failing to disclose information material to the Law School's admission decision is grounds for punitive action, which could include rescission of your admission or dismissal from the Law School.

Most Bar Admission authorities require your law school application when you apply for admission to the Bar. Your application answers to the above questions must be consistent with the information that you provide to the Bar.

If you did not disclose all requested information in your application, or if you are unsure, do NOT complete the online eLC quiz. Instead, please contact your respective Admissions representative by August 20, 2021 to disclose any conduct not already disclosed on your application. This includes conduct that took place after admission but before classes begin on August 17, 2021.

JD STUDENTS – Contact Shannon Hinson, Associate Director of Admissions, at shinson@uga.edu.

LLM STUDENTS – Contact Dr. Laura Tate Kagel, Director of International Professional Education at lkagel@uga.edu.

After meeting with your Admissions representative to discuss your disclosures, you may execute this agreement by completing the online eLC quiz.

II. Continuing Duty to Disclose Post-Admission Conduct

You have a continuing duty to promptly disclose information that is responsive to the questions stated above from now until you are no longer a student at the University of Georgia School of Law. Your continuing duty also extends to periods between semesters when you are not enrolled. Disclosures regarding conduct/incidents taking place on or after August 17, 2021 should be made to Casey Graham, Director of Student Affairs, at casey.graham@uga.edu.

Your failure to disclose post-admission conduct that is responsive to the questions stated above may result in revocation of admission, suspension or dismissal after matriculation, denial of certification of graduation, or revocation of your degree.

Law School Vocab Guide

A guide containing jargon and definitions to help you navigate all aspects of law school

Dear Incoming Law Dawgs,

Welcome to UGA Law! We are so glad to have you join our community.

This Law School Vocab Guide contains common words tossed around the law school that deserve explanation but are often overlooked. The Guide breaks down words used in class, conversations (both socially and academically), and in your job search. While we describe some of the most common words, there will of course be others where you will go "what the heck does that mean and why does everyone else seem to know it." If it's a word in class, definitely look it up beforehand as it will be fair game for a cold call, otherwise never hesitate to ask around. If nothing less, this Guide acknowledges that law school is filled with its own language both inside and outside the class. We hope that this guide passes on some of that vocabulary to help ease your transition into Georgia Law and the prouder legal community.

Finally, welcome to new Law Dawgs, we are excited you are joining our community of professionals! We cannot wait to get to know you this year.

Sincerely,

Student Bar Association & First Generation Student Association

International Opportunities for Georgia Law Students

Named after the former U.S. Secretary of State who taught at Georgia Law in the last decades of his career, the Dean Rusk International Law Center has served since 1977 as a nucleus for global research, education, and service in international, comparative, transnational, and foreign relations law and policy. The Center offers students the opportunity to engage with issues in these fields from the beginning of their legal education onwards. Through coffee hours and other events, the Center nurtures a global culture at Georgia Law, where even first-year students have the opportunity to interact with and sit side-by-side foreign trained lawyers studying for their LL.M. degrees.

Academic Year Events & Student Organizations

The Dean Rusk International Law Center spearheads events designed to promote discussion and analysis on global legal issues. These cover a range of legal topics, from human rights and security to dispute resolution and trade. Students are encouraged to attend events; for this year's offerings, please consult the Center's website.

Students should also consider becoming involved in related organizations, such as: the International Law Society, our chapter of the International Law Students Association; and the D.C.-based American Society of International Law, which students may join at a discounted rate through the Center.

Global Externships & Career Advising

Georgia Law students benefit from opportunities to prepare for global legal practice, including:

- Global Externship Overseas (GEO). During summers, students may undertake 4-to-12-week funded placements abroad, at law firms, corporate legal departments, nongovernmental organizations, and government agencies, in more than 30 countries on 5 continents.
- Global Externship At-Home (GEA). Complementing the GEO are externships in the United States that train students in legal practice involving international, comparative, transnational, and foreign affairs law. GEAs often occur in tandem with experiential learning opportunities like Georgia Law's Atlanta Semester in Practice, D.C. Semester in Practice, Corporate Counsel Externships, and have included placements at institutions such as NATO and the Carter Center.

Students interested in pursuing a career in international law are encouraged to meet with the Center's Associate Director for Global Practice Preparation, Sarah Quinn, to discuss opportunities.

Summer Study in Belgium & the Netherlands

Offered in partnership with the prestigious Leuven Centre for Global Governance Studies, this opportunity continues a four-decade tradition of summer study in Belgium. Students participate in coursework at the University of Leuven, one of Europe's top research universities. They explore global legal practice related to trade and sustainable development, peace and security, trafficking and other crimes, intellectual property, the environment, human rights and the rule of law, and migration. Also featured are professional development trips to leading legal institutions in Europe, such as the International Court of Justice, the International Criminal Court, the Iran-U.S. Claims Tribunal, NATO headquarters, and global law firms.

Dean Rusk International Law Center Student Ambassadors & Louis B. Sohn Professional Development Fellows

Law students interested in international, comparative, transnational, or foreign affairs law may apply to serve as paid Dean Rusk International Law Center Student Ambassadors, who support the Center through research and administrative assistance.

Students also may apply to volunteer at the American Society of International Law Annual Meeting, participating in the conference and in other professional development events in Washington, D.C.

For more information, e-mail us at ruskintlaw@uga.edu, visit our website at www.law.uga.edu/RuskIntl, and follow us on social media.

UGA School of Law - Four Steps for Emergency Preparedness for Students, Faculty and Staff

Step 1: Sign up for UGA*Alert*, https://ugaalert.uga.edu.

UGA*Alert* is the emergency notification system at UGA. Your personal information should be updated twice per year. When you sign up, you can choose to receive emergency messages through your UGA email and/or cell phone. If you choose cell phone, please make sure to add the UGA Alert phone number, 706-542-0111 to your contacts.

Step 2: Download "LiveSafe" Safety App on your cell phone.

LiveSafe provides location sharing for emergencies, a virtual safe walk and safe drive feature, and many safety resources at your fingertips.

Step 3: The School of Law has a one-way texting notification program that serves as an additional way for law school faculty, staff and students to be alerted of emergency notifications specific to the law school. This texting service complements your email notifications if the law school is closed or having a delayed start due to inclement weather or any circumstance that alters the normal operations of the day. This texting feature does NOT take the place of your uga.edu email address that will continue to serve as the primary form of emergency communication. Faculty, staff and students at the law school are invited to sign up for this texting feature by following these instructions: Text "ugaLAWalert" to 555888. Please note that you must chose to opt-in to this service, and you can opt-out at any time.

Step 4: Download University of Georgia App on your cell phone. It has a campus map, bus routes, parking info and is a very useful app for life in and around campus.

Check you UGA email often for important messages sent by the School of Law through emails and listserve emails.

GETTING STARTED AT UGA:

TECHNOLOGY CHECKLIST

HELPING THE UGA COMMUNITY THROUGH TECHNOLOGY

WELCOME

KNOW YOUR UGA MyID

Your MyID is the username that's required to log in to a number of online university resources and other functions.

If you are a student, your MyID was assigned to you during your admissions process.

MyID PASSWORDS

Password Requirements

Passwords must be a minimum of 10 characters with a combination of upper case letters, lower case letters and special characters (such as, @!#). Passwords cannot contain your name or username. To avoid contacting the EITS Help Desk if you forget your password, complete the brief MyID Profile forgotten password service at myid.uga.edu.

You can also change your MyID password at myid.uga.edu.

ENROLL IN ARCHPASS

ArchPass, UGA's two-step login solution, powered by Duo.

Some UGA systems, including eLearning Commons and Athena, as well as UGAMail when you're off-campus, require more than your MyID and password for access. To log into these systems, you'll need to use ArchPass, UGA's two-step login solution, which is powered by Duo. UGA systems protected by ArchPass will ask you to:

- 1 Enter your UGA MyID and password.
- Verify your identity with the Duo mobile app, a text message or a phone call to your Duo-enrolled phone or tablet.

This two-step login process adds an extra layer of security to help protect your UGA accounts. To begin using ArchPass, enroll a smartphone, cell phone, landline phone or tablet through the self-service portal at archpass.uga.edu.

KNOW YOUR UGA ID NUMBER

Your UGA identification number begins with 81.

It's used instead of your Social Security number to access personal data. Your UGA ID number appears on the back of your UGACard.

GET CONNECTED TO WIFI

Need a wireless connection for your computer or mobile device?

UGA offers two secure wireless networks: PAWS-Secure and eduroam.

PAWS-Secure is available across campus and can be accessed using a valid MyID and password. To access eduroam, students must provide their full UGA credentials with their MyID followed by "@uga.edu" (example: YourMyID@uga.edu). Students can also use their UGA credentials to get wireless service when visiting participating eduroam institutions in the United States and abroad.

To learn more, visit us at wifi.uga.edu.

CHECK YOUR UGAMAIL

Your UGAMail is provided through Microsoft and includes access to your University email, calendar and tasks.

You can access your UGAMail through the web (ugamail.uga.edu), through the UGA Mobile App, or by configuring a desktop client to access your account. The University will send official information to your UGAMail account, so be sure to check it regularly.

To change your UGAMail address, visit myid.uga.edu.

REGISTER FOR CLASSES

ATHENA

Athena is the University's student information system.

On Athena, students can register for classes, pay tuition and fees, view academic and financial aid records, and update personal information.

Visit athena.uga.edu.

STUDY WITH ELEARNING COMMONS (eLC)

UGA's online learning management system is called eLearning Commons (eLC).

Instructors use eLC for course assignments, learning materials, quizzes, class communication and more. Each semester, you have automatic access to eLC for your classes.

To access eLC, visit the MyUGA portal at my.uga.edu.

For eLC instructional resources, visit help.elc.uga.edu/students.

STAY ON TRACK WITH DEGREEWORKS

Are you staying on track for graduation?

DegreeWorks helps students and their advisors monitor progress toward degree completion. Much like a checklist, it combines their UGA degree requirements and the coursework completed into an easy-to-read electronic worksheet that shows how courses completed count toward degree requirements.

To access DegreeWorks, visit degreeworks.uga.edu.

WATCH OUT FOR PHISHING EMAILS

Phishing emails are emails designed to trick you into replying to them with personal information such as your username and password, Social Security number or financial account numbers.

Large institutions like UGA are targets for phishing, and getting phishing emails is a daily reality.

A phishing email typically:

- 1 Threatens to remove your access to a service.
- Wants you to take immediate action to keep your access.
- 3 Includes poor grammar and spelling.
- 4 Tries to make you panic.
- Comes from an unfamiliar sender and has a generic recipient.

Will UGA send legitimate emails that look like phishing scams?

There will be times when legitimate messages must be sent to inform UGAMail users of necessary changes to their accounts. These may include inactive account removal notices or information about account abuse. UGA will never ask for your password in an email.

Did you receive an email message that looks suspicious? Send it to abuse@uga.edu for review.

To learn more about cybersecurity, visit infosec.uga.edu.
